

Board Self-Assessment

Strong schools are guided by strong boards.

The Board Self-Assessment equips school boards with meaningful insights to improve effectiveness, accountability, and leadership.

Benefits & Best Use

The Board Self-Assessment (BSA) provides school boards with an objective view of their strengths, opportunities, and overall effectiveness. Used annually, it helps boards measure progress and strengthen governance over time.

Often paired with the TrustedED® School Leader (TSL) Assessment, the BSA demonstrates a shared commitment to leadership excellence. While closely aligned with the Policy Governance model, it is equally effective with any board governance structure.

Questions, Types, and Analysis

A majority of the questions use a 5-point Likert Scale. Once the assessment is closed, we will process and analyze the data in order to provide you with an understandable and useable report within three weeks that includes an Executive Summary, statistical analysis, and verbatim comments.

Each board member receives a secure assessment link from SchoolRight. We monitor participation throughout the two-week assessment window and provide reminder communications to help maximize response rates.

This tool has been invaluable in helping our board define clear, future outcome goals that will enable us to continue our pursuit of excellence and growth."
